Fatality driver nabbed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A 22-year-old Taylor driver, Jimmie Card, was arrested last Thursday night in connection with the hit-and-run fatal accident involving a 16-year-old Romulus High School student.

Taylor police said Card was apprehended at a friend's home at 7 p.m. last Thursday. He was ticketed for leaving the scene of a serious or fatal accident.

Card was arraigned last Friday before 23rd District Court Judge Anthony Nicita. Bail was set at $3,000 (10 percent). A preliminary hearing was set for today.

Card is accused of being the driver of a vehicle that smashed into a car in which Julie Krautlein of Romulus was a passenger. The accident occurred at Eureka and Inkster roads at 3:42 p.m. Aug. 7.

The Romulus High student was taken first to Heritage Hospital in Taylor and then flown to University of Michigan Hospital, where she reportedly died at 7:40 p.m.

Taylor police said that Miss Krautlein was a passenger in a car driven by a 16-year-old girl from Tennessee. The car was in the process of making a left hand turn on Eureka Road, when it was struck by the Card's vehicle. He reportedly fled the scene of the accident, police said.

The Tennessee woman was injured slightly and was treated at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. She was released after treatment.

Taylor police said the investigation is continuing.

Reports that Wayne-Westland Superintendent of Schools Dr. Larry Thomas may submit his resignation to the board of education at the Aug. 22 board meeting could not be confirmed or denied by school officials Monday.

According to Thomas, "I still have one year and I plan to serve that year," however, he added, "I'm looking at all my options."

Thomas, who has a three-year contract with the district which expires June 30, 1995, makes an annual salary of $110,600.

Although school board members would not confirm or deny the possible action, all said they've heard that Thomas may resign and said they would support his resignation if the matter came before the board for a vote.

"If he does (submit his resignation), I will not stand in his way to move on to bigger and better things," Board Treasurer Patricia Brown said.

Trekkers due in Romulus

Fans of Star Trek series gathered Saturday and Sunday in Dearborn to relive the fictional episodes...

Beware you faint-hearted residents of Romulus, Trekkies are on the prowl and may be in your neighborhood.

Word has been received from the Dearborn Civic Center that a "birthing celebration" was conducted Sunday during which time an official proclamation issued by Mayor Beverly McAnally was read acknowledging the Romulus Imperial Embassy and recognizing Romulus as the Romulan Homeworld.

Fans of the Star Trek series gathered Saturday and Sunday in Dearborn to relive the fictional episodes of the popular television program, and to view and puchase memoribilia from the space saga.

Linda Paulsen (Chavrahna T'Pal Qey SaH) reveals that sometime in coming months, an actual Romulus Embassy will be created within the city.

In preparation for establishing Romulus as the Romulan Homeworld, the Romulus Imperial Embassy has already established a contact zone, P.O. Box 74650, Romulus, Mich. 48174-0650.

Leaders of the Romulus Imperial Embassy were on hand Sunday in Dearborn to greet Brent Spiner, who enacts the character of Lt. Commander Data on the Star Trek Next Generation series.

Also in attendance at the convention were members of the Idic Alliance, an international organization from Erie, Pa., members of the newly formed Star Trek Fan Club, and a Romulus Embassy picket ship known as the Night Raven from St. Clair Shores.

Paul Bennett from Comic Relief also was in attendance.

McAnally's proclamation began, "Whereas: on stardate 9375.7 a fleet of the Klingon Empire challenged a single ship of the Romulan Star Empire to a battle in the city of Romulus."

The proclamation continued that "the Romulan ship was outnumbered at least two to one. The Klingons, resorting to trickery and deception, claimed victory by default. Thereby laying claim to the Romulan Homeworld."

Thus "Imperial Practor Chavrahna T'Paul Qey SaH finding the situation intolerable after her long exile seeks to restore Romulus to its rightful heirs and reclaim the honor of the Romulan Star Empire.

McAnally in her proclamation urges city residents to "extend a warm welcome to Romulus Imperial Embassy" personnel and reaffirm our debt of appreciation to Gene Roddenberry and his unique vision of the future.

2 murder trials set to begin

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Two murder trials, one involving the shooting death of a Romulus man and the other a stabbing of a Lansing resident, are slated to begin the last week of August.

The first trial will witness Nathan Yount, 16, of Taylor, being tried as an adult for the shooting death of Christopher Warren Jones of Romulus on the night of Feb. 22 outside Mount Pleasant School.

Yount will be tried on charges of first degree murder, assault with intent to murder and two counts of felony firearm. Presiding at the trial will be Recorders Court Judge Gershwin Drain.

While Yount will be tried as an adult, the possibility remains that he could be sentenced as a juvenile, which means even if he is convicted of first degree murder he could be freed at the age of 21.

This possibility angers Bruce Jones, father of the victim, who has been working to have such a possibility outlawed.

The second murder case involves the stabbing death of Ronald Clark Pasko, 30, of the Lansing area. Mr. Pasko's body was found on Cogswell Street in Romulus early on the morning of April 13.

While the shoeless body was stripped of identification papers and the victim's car was left on the Michigan-Ohio border, local detectives working with Eaton County police discovered his identity and the fact that he was killed in his Lansing home and later dumped in Romulus.

A Lansing pair, Stephanie Fisher, 23, and Lee McDuffie, 24, were charged with first degree murder. Both defendants are former Detroit residents and McDuffie was said to be Pasko's ex-co-worker.

The motive behind the murder was tied to a failed financial deal the trio had made earlier.

Group home battle slated on Monday

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

City residents concerned about the rising number of group foster homes in Romulus are urged to attend a 6 p.m. session this Monday at which time the City Council will begin an effort to curtail the spiraling number of such facilities within the city.

Mayor Beverly McAnally and the City Council have long been frustrated over the mushrooming number of adult foster homes in Romulus and that the number continues to escalate.

City Councilman Noah (Pete) Bergeron complained on June 27 that something needed to be done to slow or halt the number of such homes opening up within the city.

Bergeron asked City Clerk Linda Choate to contact the state Department of Social Services to appear at such a meeting. Choate said later that the social service unit has agreed to have a representative at the Monday meeting slated prior to the regular 7:30 p.m. council meeting.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks cited the fact that in addition to the excessive number of such group homes, the large population of retarded adults also puts a heavy economic strain on the Romulus Community School District.

According to state law, the school district must provide transportation to and from educational facilities for those people until they reach the age of 26. Many of such students are bused to outside-the-district schools, which makes the cost much higher, Banks said.

Banks also appealed for some help from Lansing on the issue. State Representative Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor) revealed that his legislative aide Andrea Cascarilla will be in attendance to outline his position and to gather information for Pitoniak's office.

Mary Ann Banks

Councilman Ellis Pennington, another long time critic of group homes in Romulus, declared "we have 41 such homes in Romulus, it seems like one on every block.

"Social Services should consider making Romulus off limits for any more group homes until surrounding towns catch up with us in the number of such homes," Pennington said.

It is expected that a representative of the school district will also attend the meeting.

ard LeBlanc said he was notified of the alleged resignation and has attempted to reach Thomas for comment, but to no avail.

LeBlanc said he would support the resignation, but declined to comment any further pending any formal action by Thomas.

"He has a three-year contract. I expect him to finish the year out," Board trustee Francis Winter said. However, he added, "If he resigns and takes a job somewhere else ... I would support the resignation. I don't want anyone working in the district that doesn't want to work in the district."

> I just don't know if I'm willing to add to their financial hardships right now.
> - Vicky Welty

Board Secretary Vicky Welty said she will not be in attendance at the Aug. 22 meeting, but that she would be in support of Thomas' resignation at the end of the contract.

"I would support Thomas doing what he thinks is best," Welty said.

Thomas has faced some criticism from board members in the past and the controversy surrounding his evaluation in January led to a change in law firms by board members last week.

The administration office has continued to forestall the release of the evaluation including the individual board members' comments, even after the board members voted to release the information.

"Whether the man chooses to resign or not, we are entitled to that evaluation and the board members have acknowledged that. That is at least one small step toward convincing the administration office that they, too, are subject to the laws of this state and do not have complete autonomy.

"I believe the board members understand that and are attempting to follow the letter and the intent of the law. I commend them for that and recognize their change in attitude. But we're still entitled to that opinion. If we pursue it, the legal fees will be paid by the school district.

"I just don't know if I'm willing to add to their financial hardships right now," she concluded.

Youth attend basketball camp

Approximately 150 Romulus youth enjoyed three days of basketball training and professional instruction from Miami Heat basketball star Grant Long and a dedicated group of young Metro area hoop coaches last week.

The program is in its second year at the new Romulus High School athletic facility and is co-sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department and the high schoool athletic department.

At the conclusion of the third day last Friday, Long expressed the strong hope that if he can increase local support for the program it could be extended to five days next year.

Long, who recently completed his sixth professional season with the Heat, stated that he just wanted to pay back the community for what it gave to him years ago.

A 1984 graduate of Romulus High, Long said while he was in school here Detroit Piston star Bob Lanier came by and worked with him and his peers.

"He didn't have to do it, but he impressed me that he cared. And now I want to pass on that tradition and hopefully one of these kids will continue it years from now," Grant said.

Long's leadership has been cited by fellow Heat players this year as one of the reasons the team made its first appearance in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

He tried to instill some of those leadership qualities in the city camp last week, as he created rules that the players (both male and female) could use on and off the court.

Long demanded that the donated basketball camp T-shirts be clean each day and tucked into their shorts, that no jewelry be worn, no profanity be used in the school or school grounds and that good sportsmanship be used at all times.

Long said "we had no discipline problems" and credited St. Martin de Porres High School coach Derrick Owens and his staff for keeping the camp at the highest level of professionalism.

Other coaches included Keifer Oliver, TyQuan Lenyard, Darryl Boyd, Sean Barry, Eric Hill and Derrick Hill.

In addition to the T-shirts, the participants on the closing day also received a signed color photograph of Long and a certificate of participation in the camp.

Professional trophies were also awarded to the best defensive player, the best free thrower, the best team player and the player who exhibited the best hustle.

Eleven-year-old Shawna Stevens, a local sixth grader, plays co-ed basketball in her neighborhood. She praised the "helpful" coaches at the camp, who improved her defensive skills. She hopes to use these extended talents when she plays Romulus Middle School basketball.

"The coaches urged us to play as hard as we could and that has helped give me a new confidence," Shawna said.

Another player, John Penn, 12, who will be entering Middle School this fall, hopes to be a point guard. "The coaches here teach you a lot about basketball and life. I hope some day to be playing for the Dallas Mavericks and lead them to their first championship."

Jesse Meriweather, school district athletic director, said this year's camp was even better than its initial year in 1993.

Meriweather hopes the free camp becomes an annual event in Romulus. He supports Long's efforts to enlarge the camp next year.

Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 President Marjory Sizeland, who openly declared, "I never win anything," was named the grand prize winner of the recreation department sponsored annual Walk-Michigan event.

Sizeland will receive an all-expenses paid trip for two to Mackinac Island and will participate in the Labor Day Bridge Walk.

"I walk off and on, but nothing regular," the unexpected winner declared as her name was revealed. "I began walking a little more when the Walk Michigan promotion got under way. Walking is healthy."

Sizeland, who attends bingo games and participates in Senior Center van trips, was one of 31 center walkers who participated in the event.

Participants either joined in the four formal walks organized by the recreation department or ventured out on their own to create individual walking excursions.

The Walk Michigan program was organized in 1985 by the Michigan Recreation and Park Association. This marked the fourth year Romulus has participated in the statewide program.

Other city residents who participated in the walk included: Gayle Mach, Sheila Dubisky, Vi Willoughby, Terry Herbert, Blanche Bogatski, Luevern Warren, Sarah Herbert, Arthur Herbert, Tammy Ramsey, Courtney Ramsey, Toni Rich, Rick Hislop, Melanie Hislop, Daneta Hislop, Heather Hislop and Amanda Hislop.

Camp read
Romulus youngsters complete library program

Some 100 Romulus youngsters participated in the Camp Read program sponsored by the Romulus Public Library.

To culminate the reading program, the youngsters gathered at Mt. Pleasant School, where the library is temporarily located, to view a magic show by Ming the Magnificent.

While awaiting the show to begin, the youngsters talked about their favorite books.

Wearing a cowboy hat to the show, Robert (Robby) Clements, 3-1/2, didn't recall any tales of the wild West, but he remembered an "ant" book that was his favorite.

As the show began, Andrew Rodger, 9, and his friend, Carl Weatherholt, 7, tried to unravel the mysteries of Ming's magic as the magician called on Jessica Trahay, 7, to assist him.

To ensure that Ming's magic would work, the youngsters cried out the magic words, "Camp Read."

Four-year-old Ada Victoria Martin came away from the Miss Michigan American Princess Contest with three trophies.

The Romulus youngster earned one trophy for outstanding participation, another for being photogenic and a third as a pageant contestant.

"She really enjoyed it," said her mother, Victoria Martin. "They called her the baby of the pageant."

Martin said that there was a dawn to dusk schedule of events for the youngsters, but she limited Ada's participation so that the pageant would not be too demanding for her.

"She had two special buddies in the pageant, Joi Mar of Sterling Heights and Jasmine Martin of Ypsilanti," Martin said.

Ada's sponsors were her parents, Victoria and Earnest Martin, her grandmother, Lydia Kyak, and her brother, Jonathan, was her special sponsor.

"Her brother also has a trophy - not a pageant trophy, but a bowling trophy," Martin said, revealing her pride in her award-winning children.

Restaurant owner tracks down armed robbery suspects

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Two suspected thieves didn't "have it their way" when they attempted to rob the McDonald's restaurant at 5235 South Merrimam Saturday.

The business owner, Roy Jason III, foiled the plans of the alleged thieves when he followed them from the restaurant in his own vehicle after the robbery, notifying local police of the incident and the chase from his car phone.

Allen Park and Dearborn police stopped the driver of the 1987 blue two-door Chrysler automobile while traveling northbound on the Southfield, police said, after Jason, 46, followed them down the I-94 freeway.

Both men were transported to the Westland police station, and arraigned out-county on three charges of armed robbery each.

Kurt Kevin Edwards, the 32-year-old Detroit driver, and Shaun Duvall Boyer, a 29-year-old Detroiter, face preliminary examinations on the charges in Westland 18th District Court Aug. 25. Edwards is being held on a $75,000 cash bond and Boyer's bond was set at $100,000. If convicted of the crimes, both men face a maximum sentence of up to life imprisonment on each count.

The owner escorted the armed man to the front register where he was instructed to open the drawer and the robber grabbed an undisclosed amount of cash.

The incident occurred around 7:10 a.m. Saturday when the perpetrator walked into McDonald's, placed an order and then pulled out a 4-7/8-inch lock blade knife, according to police.

When he instructed the cashier to "open the drawer and give me the money," holding the knife over the counter, the frightened cashier ran to the back of the store and yelled for the owner, police said.

As he walked past the back fryers, the owner was met by the robber who said, "I want all your money," and showed him the knife, according to police. The owner escorted the armed man to the front register where he was instructed to open the drawer and the robber grabbed an undisclosed amount of cash.

As he was walking out, the robber used his knife to cut off three gold bracelets from the cashier's arm and walked the owner to the front counter and instructed him to get on the ground. Before leaving, police reports said, the robber cut the phone lines to both store phones.

After the robber got inside, the Chrysler drove off slowly southbound onto Merriman Road and Jason got in his car and followed, police said.

Opinion

Who's in charge?

Just in case local officials in our area didn't understand the message sent to them by voters in the Aug. 6 primary election, we'll explain it to them.

People, life as you know it in the political arena has changed. Things are no longer the way they used to be and you better get used to it. In short folks, the voters have wised up and become aware and they simply will not accept the shenanigans or shoddy performance which may have been acceptable in the past.

Did you miss that on the ballot?

It was there, loud and clear, when the public safety millage was approved in Van Buren Township and the recreation funding was accepted by voters in Wayne. You may not have understood the real meaning of these approvals and thought that this means that once again voters will approve just about anything they're asked for as long as you tell them it's needed. Or maybe if you threaten them with dreadful consequences or imply that they are not good citizens if they don't vote more tax money without proper justification.

We don't think so.

These approvals mean that voters understood the necessity for these services, accepted the need and chose to spend their tax dollars in this specific way. These approvals mean that those people charged with educating and promoting these elections told the story in a way that voters understood and appreciated, treated them like thinking, adult, responsible individuals and fully respected their ability to choose--one way or another.

Voters are no longer willing to be treated like a non-thinking unwashed mass of lesser beings. Those in office and those seeking office must realize that not only do voters care, these days, people.

And they resent scare tactics, smear campaigns or attempts to obfuscate or conceal the facts. In short, they're on to you and many of the political tactics, deal-making and hallway machinations simply won't work any longer. Oh sure, they don't know all your secrets-- they don't control your daily day-to-day dealings and compromises of ethics, principles and promises to further your own aims--but they're getting a whole lot smarter.

They aren't following party lines, they aren't listening to emotional appeals and they won't be threatened, cajoled or misled. They want information, accurate figures and facts. They want to be treated with the respect due them. And they may decide for you or against you, but they will decide, they won't just be led to the voting booth like mindless zombies.

They are, after all, the people paying the bills--and the salaries-- and they are learning they have a right to demand accountability and credibility from those they place in office. They've realized that they are, after all, in charge. And if they're not, they soon will be.

That, oh mighty political leaders, was the real message from the real people. We sure hope you get it.

Good news, and bad

We won't belabor this point--we'll just say it one more time.

We don't make the news. We simply report it. If there is too much crime on the front page of your local newspaper--we didn't commit those crimes. We simply reported them. And if they are heinous crimes or reports of trials and court proceedings of crimes which were of a significant nature--oh, let's just say murders, shootings, rapes of children, drive-by gang shootings--we have an obligation to keep the public appraised of those proceedings. And if there is an armed robber, serial killer, child molester or stalker in the are who poses a threat to the community, we have the same obligation the police departments and the local officials do and that is to publicize and warn our residents of the peril in which we live today.

This is our community. We live here, work here and pay taxes here. We think we know the people who live here pretty well.

We respect them, we respect their intelligence, their values, their involvement and their community pride.

Because, you see, we have that in common. And one other thing, too, we love our home towns--faults and all.

LETTERS

Reader is unhappy

To the editor:

After living in Belleville and Van Buren Township the past 77 years, and during that that time receiving the Belleville paper for most of that time, I find that the historical novels on the "Letters" page do not interest me.

So I would like a refund for the balance of my subscription and a goodbye to the paper that once represented the people of Belleville and Van Buren Township.

Also the sports coverage leaves much to be desired.

Resident thanks emergency team

To the editor:

On Aug. 2, 1994 I had a reaction about 7 p.m. to a medication that a doctor had given to me while I was in Jackson, Mich. visiting my mother.

I have Multiple Sclerosis and did not inform this doctor of my condition. I will from now on.

When I got to my home here in Westland my respiratory system shut down. My wife called 911 and within three minutes the Westland EMS was here and took me by ambulance to Annapolis Hospital. I want them to know how thankful I am for their professional skills and care.

I was told by the attending emergency room doctor that the fast, professional skills of this Westland rescue team meant my surviving.

I do not know their names but hope they will read this letter and realize how important they are.

Thank you for saving my life. God Bless you.

Candidate urges campaign on issues

To the editor:

I am writing to clarify some potential misunderstandings which may have occurred as a result of two separate letters written by Mr. Wayne E. Fritz and Mr. Michael Andrzejewski and printed in the Aug. 11, 1994 edition of the Eagle. Mr. Andrzejewski points out that my current opponent in the 8th State Senate race was not endorsed by Democrat Senator William Faust. However, Senator Faust's endorsement of a "non- Westland" candidate occurred during the Democrat primary election, which was held on Tuesday, Aug. 2, 1994.

I would like to underscore that I have not (yet) been endorsed by Sen. Faust for the general election to be held on Nov. 8, 1994. Also, the millage vote referred to in their letters did not occur in Canton Township, where I currently serve as the Township Clerk, but rather in a neighboring community. Finally, according to Mr. Fritz, the toxic waste facility which recently caught fire is not located in Huron Township. Rather, it is in Van Buren Township and has been there for some 30 years, long before any of the local officials there were in office. In short, I just want to make it clear to your readers that I am not the person referred to in either letter.

These inaccuracies and ambiguities seem to me like just another example of the "same old political games" which Mr. Andrzejewski decries. The voters have told me they are fed up with this. In the past, I have refused to engage in personal, negative campaigning. In this race, I have focused on issues and not personal attacks, false accusations, or silly maneuvering. For the fall, I will continue to focus on the issues and not personal attacks, false accusations, or silly political maneuvering. For the fall, I will continue to focus on the issues of importance to the people of the 8th State Senate district and I invite my opponent to start doing the same.

Loren N. Bennett
Republican Candidate

Editors note: These letters referred to Sen. Faust's endorsement of Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacokes.

Timing of story criticized

To the editor:

While reading the Sunday Eagle & Enterprise of Aug.. 7 (which was actually delivered on Saturday) I came across a story on page A-5 titled "Wayne County Fair offers family entertainment" written by Laurie Humphrey. Knowing that the fair would be starting this week, I thought I'd read the article and see what would be going on.

Imagine my surprise when the very first line stated "The streets of Belleville came to life last week as people from across the state gathered for the 1994 Wayne County Fair." The entire story was written in the past tense. People that don't know about the fair would surmise that they missed it, not that it is an event about to begin.

Was this story intended for next week's paper? How can Ms. Humphrey tell us what went on at the fair if it hasn't even opened yet? It certainly makes me question the credibility of any article in the Eagle or the Enterprise.

Candidate clarifies address

To the editor:

I would like to alert you to an error appearing in your article about nominees for the November election. You stated that there will be five Westland residents facing competitors on Nov. 8th, when in fact there will be six. You further stated that three residents of Wayne had sought nomination from three different parties in the 13th District Congressional race. By your third party reference I assume that you were including me among those Wayne residents. I am, however, a resident of Westland and have been for approximately 23 years.

It appears that my address has been published improperly in some official document, and I certainly do not wish to seem belligerent. I hope that you will take this correction in the friendly spirit in which it is offered.

Candidate, U.S. House of Representatives - District #13
Libertarian Party of Michigan

Grieving mother says thank you

To the editor:

This letter was meant to be written and sent several months ago, but finding the right words to say thank you were difficult.

In December of 1993, Associated Newspapers granted 12 Christmas wishes. I submitted my wish and it was granted. Because of your assistance, my 4 month old son, who died 16 Oct. 93, has a marker on his grave. This wish might have seemed unimportant to some, but, to me, it was the most important wish that could be granted. For it was very hard going to the cemetery and staring at the ground where my son was supposed to be. His resting place now bears his name and although it is so very hard to see his name and not his face, I am forever grateful that you, your staff and community members helped to mark his spot forever.

Again, my most sincere thanks and my apologies in taking so long to say thank you. Grief has a way of turning your life upside down.

I hope that you will continue granting those Christmas wishes for a very long time. In the future I hope to assist in granting such wishes.

In loving memory of Joshua Tyler Raye Cole 14 Jun 93 - 16 Oct 83

Program clarified

To the editor:

Thank you for your coverage of the graffiti painting project sponsored by the Westland Youth Assistance Program.

In fairness to our program youth, it should be noted that NONE of the youths involved in our painting project were responsible for the destruction of property by painting graffiti on buildings. Some youths are referred to us for minor offenses, such as smoking, curfew, shoplifting, of trespassing. Others are referred by parents who recognize that their child is "at risk" of getting into trouble because of behavior problems at home, at school, or in the neighborhood. Most of our program youths are good, responsible, young people who have made a poor judgment and they are now accepting the consequences of that choice by performing free community work service.

Mother begs for help

To the editor:

I know you will be surprised to receive a letter coming from far away on this isolated island of unfortunate human beings, but praying for your kindness and understanding I took the courage to write to request you to please print this letter.

I am an invalid Leper and a mother of seven malnourished children, two girls ages 12 and 9 and five boys ages 8, 6, 5, 3 and 2. It breaks my heart to see my children cry because they are always hungry and their few clothes are worn out already. I cannot provide for my children anymore because my disease has deformed me severely and I am already bedridden. What keeps us alive is only the food ration our government gives for patients like me but this food ration is hardly enough for three meals day.

If you will be so kind to publish my helplessness and call for help. I just hope to find someone who may want to be the Santa Claus of my poor little ones and share us some foods and old clothes you and your family do not like to wear anymore. I promise to be very grateful.

I know this is a shameful thing to ask, but my children are sickly and starving, so I've got to try to find help somehow. So I beg you with all my heart. Please help me with my request. May God bless you.

Comic injured in dart gun attack

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A dart-blowing Garden City resident was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court on felony charges after striking a local entertainer in the eye.

Jimmie Capeneka II, son of the owner of Jimmy's Next Door, a popular Westland bar located at 35323 Ford Road, was at the location during the evening hours July 22 when the incident occurred, according to Westland police Sgt. Leonard West.

Capeneka, 30, was charged with mayhem, which is the malicious intent to do great bodily harm, and assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. Capeneka, who waived his right to a preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court, faces a maximum sentence of up to 10 years in prison on each count if convicted. He was released on a personal bond pending his next court date in Detroit, Aug. 25.

The injury occurred when 35-year-old Christopher Elder was performing a comedy routine. During the act, Capeneka allegedly used a blow gun to shoot darts at the victim. The first two darts hit the performer in the leg and arm and the third struck Elder in the eye, causing a puncture wound, according to West.

Elder was transported to a nearby hospital for treatment and is still undergoing treatment for the eye injury. However, West said, Elder is expected to recover fully.

West said he didn't know why Capeneka blew the darts at Elder, who he has known for several years.

Elected

Kay Beard, vice chair of the Wayne County Commission, has been elected to a two-year term on the board of trustees of Montgomery Hospital in Westland. Montgomery Hospital is a 60-bed private psychiatric facility for adults. Prior to joining the hospital board, Beard served as a member of the citizens advisory board for five years. She is a Westland resident.

Suspect accused of area robberies

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer
By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 26-year-old Dexter man, who was charged in connection with a Canton Township robbery, was arraigned on armed robbery charges in Westland 18th District Court.

Ted Alexander Wade is being held on a $100,000 cash bond for the Westland crime and a $50,000 cash bond for the Canton Township robbery. He is also expected to be charged in connection with a Washtenaw County robbery, according to Canton Township Community Relations Officer Tammie Colling.

Westland police believe Wade is responsible for the July 10 robbery of Howard Hoagies restaurant located at 1553 S. Wayne Road in Westland. The store was robbed around 6:22 p.m., Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh said, when the perpetrator entered the store where two employees were working and stole an undisclosed amount of cash.

According to Haigh, no weapon was seen by the employees and no one was injured during the robbery.

Wade was arraigned in Canton Township for allegedly robbing the Clark gas station, located on the 44000 block of Ford Road, on July 9.

A station employee told police a white male in his late 20s entered the station at 2 p.m. and made a purchase. Once the employee opened the register, the robber allegedly told the attendant he had a gun and wanted the money.

The robber fled the scene on foot northbound from the location, according to Canton Township police.

Colling said police searched the scene and interviewed witnesses upon arrival.

"They put out an area broadcast," she said, "and learned that an armed robbery had occurred earlier in Washtenaw County. The description we received matched the description in the Washtenaw robbery except the man had a car."

An officer in Van Buren Township spotted the vehicle, matching the description of the get away car used in Washtenaw County, in a hotel parking lot, Colling said.

Wade is scheduled to appear in 18th District Court for preliminary examination Thursday. He is also awaiting trial on a stolen vehicle charge and armed robbery which occurred in May, according to Colling.

Fishy story

Local police may have thought they'd seen it all – that is until one Westland woman had police take a gander at what was floating around in her outdoor swimming pool.

When police arrived at the woman's home, located on the 32200 block of Glen Street, they observed a large number of fish on the ground next to the woman's back yard swimming pool, police reports said.

The resident, who had removed the fish from her pool, said an unknown person or persons from a neighboring home must have deposited the gilled swimmers in her pool, police said. The woman told police she had problems with the neighbors damaging her property in the past.

2 face charges in racial attack

Two Westland men charged with felonious assault and ethnic intimidation will appear for an arraignment on information Aug. 24 in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Eric Bolek and Michael Jablonski, both white, were allegedly involved in an altercation with a black man Aug. 1, according to Wayne police Sgt. Bob McIntyre.

"The altercation took place in front of an apartment building on Michigan Avenue," said McIntyre. "The three defendants chased the victim and shouted racial comments."

Bolek and Jablonski appeared for an examination Aug. 10 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and it was waived.

City golf, revisited

The 35th annual City Championship Golf Tournament is history, but before closing the books on the parks and recreation-Associated Newspapers sponsored summer classic, the ANP staff has to tie up some loose ends. Missing from last week's Open Division standings was the name of Paul Yager, who shot 83-89 for a 36-hole total of 172. Yager finished in the middle of the pack in the division. The Inkster resident and Ford Motor Company employee has been playing in the tournament for the past seven years. Pictured above are some of the winners including tournament medalist Craig Klimczak (top photo, at left) who carded a 164 to win his first overall championship. Jeff Nesbitt and Bill Schwope finished in a dead heat for second-place in the Canton Township title race; in photo at upper right, Ralph Starr was the winner of the Westland First Flight (170) who is with runnerup Tom Gibbons. Not pictured is third-place trophy winner John Schmieder. In the photo immediately above are Wayne First Flight trophy winners Brian Wojcik (from left), Steven Bullock and Doug Tompkins. The 35th annual tournament was staged under perfect weather conditions Aug. 6-7 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township. ANP photo by Kimberly Woloskie

Romulus picks head football coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

When Romulus High opens the 1994 football campaign next month, the Eagles will have a new head coach at the helm of the team, according to athletic director Jesse Meriweather.

Meriweather announced last week that assistant coach Jim Zoltowski has been picked to replace former head coach Dan Henry, who resigned after the 1993 campaign.

Henry offered family commitments as the reason for his resignation.

"Jim has been a member of Henry's staff for the past four years," said Meriweather, in making the announcement. "He will bring youth and vitality to the program, and he also knows the athletes in the program. There will be some sort of continuity with his selection.

"We feel that he will do an excellent job in rebuilding our team."

After an outstanding 1992 season when Romulus reached the Class A state playoffs, the Eagles had a disastrous year in 1993 when they dropped eight of their nine encounters.

An independent, Romulus is scheduled to join the Mega Conference in 1995. The Eagles have a nine-game schedule for this year.

Zoltowski comes from a family of football stars and coaches. His father, James, also coached at Wayne Memorial in the early 1980s.

Zoltowski will have his work cut out for him.

"One of the problems we had a year ago," Meriweather noted, "was the lack of experience at the quarterback slot. Zoltowski's biggest concern will be to find someone who can take command of the offense."

The Eagles will launch the 1994 campaign at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 2 when neighboring Taylor Truman invades Romulus. The Romulus will continue to play their home games at the Romulus Middle School, located at 37300 Wick Road.

Plymouth-Canton abolishes student pay-to-participate fee

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

With less than a week left to go before the start of the 1994-95 school year, Superintendent Dr. Charles Little is already becoming a hit with Plymouth-Canton students.

The school leader challenged the board to come up with $20,000, to be combined with his $30,000 saving, and abolish pay-to-play in Plymouth- Canton Community Schools.

The $30,000 was given back to the students in the form of co- curricular activities after the resignation of Jim Finn, Plymouth- Canton Educational Park (PCEP) faculty athletic manager. Finn left to take an assistant principal position at South Redford Thurston High School in Redford.

The resignation prompted school officials to reorganize athletic administration and create the position of faculty supervisor with less responsibilities than athletic manager. A decrease of responsibilities was matched with a decrease in salary.

"To be able to set aside pay-to-play, we need $50,000," said Little. "Here is $30,000, now I ask the board to find the other $20,000 so we can drop it."

Statistics show that the number of student athletes has dropped during the past two years as a result of the participation fee. In 1991-92, almost 1,900 students were involved in sports at PCEP. When administration implemented a $60 fee the following year, participation dropped to 1,623 students. Last year when the fee increased to $125, the student count dropped even further to 1,421.

Each of the seven board members agreed that co-curricular activities were an important part of the education process, but only four believed extracting $20,000 from the general fund was appropriate.

"With our budget situation, it comes down to choices," said Vice President Sue Feiten. "We already had to take money out of the budget this year to balance the budget next year."

"I did not believe in my heart that $30 was prohibitive. We just purchased a bunch of new computers," said the woman, "and there is a good possibility we will need money for new software or to teach our staff how to use the computers."

President David Artley, also in search of a balance between classroom education and co-curricular education, sees the situation in a different light.

Inkster crowns Open Invitational tennis champions

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Drawing some of the best amateur male and female tennis talent in the area, the 16th annual city of Inkster Open Tennis Championships received excellent grades from competitors and organizers.

And 11 players strolled off the tennis courts with first-place trophies.

"This was a first-class tournament," noted Ron Wolkowicz, who applauded the efforts of tournament coordinator Portia Dickson.

"We would like to thank all of the participants and volunteers who were involved and a special thanks to Michael Banks of the Professional Racquet Services for his expertise."

In the duel for the men's singles crown, local favorite Richard McGinnis of Inkster ran up against a tough Kane Hunter of Detroit. Hunter turned back McGinnis in the finals for the title.

In the meantime, in the hunt for the women's singles crown, Detroiter Michelle Bradford edged out Dr. Amy Parker for the championship.

Two area netters - Oak Park's Donnie Latimore and Dearborn's Scott Sanders squared off in the men's Over 35 & Over Singles finals and Latimore hung on for the victory and the first-place trophy.

In the men's 45 & over singles division, Tommy Hayes of Detroit stunned Johnny Evans of Inkster to win the title, and in the adult open doubles, McGinnis teamed up with Detroiter Phil Jackson to defeat Hunter and Mike Powell of Southfield in the finals.

Latimore and Harris grabbed the spotlight again in the adult mixed doubles and defeated Webb (Inkster) and Parker (Beverly Hills).

In the men's 35 & over doubles category, Wayne's Manuel Wilson and Detroit Darryl Mitchell stopped a pair of Oak Parkers in Kenneth Williams and Donnie Latimore.

The Dearborn Heights' duo of Harold Lollar and Jim Hadley defeated Roger Suter (Plymouth) and Ned Sanders (Inkster) for the men's 45 & over doubles championship.

Dearborn Heights netters also dominated the youth 14 and younger class as James Dragescu beat Ranjeet Dajliwal.

Belleville race driver victory string is cut

Belleville race driver Scotty Kalitta's bid to capture five consecutive National Hot Rod Association events in Top Fuel eliminator came to an abrupt stop last week.

The 32-year-old driver took his American International Airways entry to the final round of the Northwest Nationals at Seattle International Raceway before falling to Joe Amato.

> The quickest and fastest father-and-son team in motorsports, the Kalittas remain the only multi-event winners on tour.

Kalitta experienced problems early in the run and Amato went on to take the victory with a time of 4.85 seconds.

Kalitta, the only Top Fuel dragster driver to ever win four successive events, retains his lead in the Winston Championship points chase while Amato stays in the second spot.

Connie Kalitta, Scott's father and teammate, took his American International Airways entry to the second round where he fell to Amato, 4.859 to 5.174. The winner of two events this season, the 56- year-old veteran driver who hails from Ypsilanti is now seated fourth in the overall chase for the title.

The quickest and fastest father-and-son team in motorsports, the Kalittas remain the only multi-event winners on the tour.

The Kalittas will rev up their engines on Thursday and compete in the Champion Auto Stores Nationals to be staged in Brainerd, Minn., from Aug. 18-21.

They're champs

Not only did they post an impressive 12-3 record for the season, but the Tigers also managed to win the Westland Youth Athletic Association "Coach-Pitch Tournament" championship. The Tigers' (pictured above) lineup include: Chad Barrett (front row, from left), Chad Rellinger, Gene Barrett, Garrett Loveless and Scott Ruark; second row are Nick Vanbuhler, Jonathan Kimble, Will Kennedy, Jeremy Morris and Scott Shough; in the third row are Guy Loveless, Jeremy Morris and Scott Shough; in the third row are Guy Loveless, Will Kennedy, head coach Andy Barrett and Gene Barrett. Local talent sharpens hockey skills in camp

A local hockey player is sharpening his skating skills and technique in camp.

Belleville resident Adam Drescher attended hockey camp at the Michigan Technological University (MTU) Hockey Development Center to improve and enhance his hockey skills.

At the camp, Drescher was drilled in his stickhandling, passing, shooting, skating and checking skills through rigorous drills and challenging scrimmages.

In addition to on-ice activities, he trained in the off-ice development center.

Westland teen strives for career as a top model

Text by
MARGO DEWEY

Westland resident Christina Hoh said she was encouraged to enter the national modeling competition by her mother, Carol. She enjoys modeling clothes and performing.

Design by
JOHN P. RHAESA

She is only a few inches too short for a runway model, but that isn't stopping Westland resident Christina Hoh from reaching her goal of being on the front cover of a national magazine one day.

The 16-year-old recently was named a regional finalist in the 1994 Look of the Year Million Dollar Model Search. The event was sponsored by John Casablanca's Modeling and Career Centers in Plymouth and Troy.

"I was the Miss North America Modeling Talent Inc. state finalist this year," Hoh said. "The competitions are a lot of fun, and you get to meet people from all over the U.S. and other countries."

Hoh is a senior at John Glenn High School. The 5-foot, 6-inch beauty has brown hair and hazel eyes. She weighs a mere 104 pounds.

She said she doesn't have a specific diet plan to maintain her perfect figure. In fact, she eats six times a day.

"My favorite thing to eat is Taco Bell," Hoh said. "I don't diet at all. I work out by being active in my favorite sports such as gymnastics, track, swimming and roller skating."

A select group of finalists were selected from the regional finalists in the John Casablanca contest to compete in the national finals scheduled for September in Ibiza, Spain.

The winner will receive up to a million dollars in modeling contracts with the internationally acclaimed elite modeling agency.

Although Hoh did not make the cut for the finalists, she said she still plans on reaching for her modeling dream.

"I hope to get involved in print and commercial work," Hoh said. "I think modeling is a lot of fun, but it's also hard work depending on what type of modeling you get involved in."

Hoh's parents, Carol and Vince Hoh, couldn't be more proud of their daughter.

"I encouraged her to enter the competitions," Carol Hoh said. "She has a lot of talent and beauty.

When Hoh graduates from high school, she said she would like to study nursing in college.

Police report increase in domestic violence

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

> We had one guy smashing his wife's head on the cement, making reference to O.J. and saying she should get what she deserved like his (Simpson's) wife.
> - Judge Gail McKnight

> I really think the O.J. incident has frightened a number of people. I think that women are becomming more apt to do something about violence.
> - Judge C. Charles Bokos

Reported domestic violence cases are on the rise, according to Westland 18th District Judges C. Charles Bokos and Gail McKnight, and it may be due to the violent death of O.J. Simpson's former wife Nicole Brown Simpson in mid-June.

"I really think the O.J. incident has frightened a number of people. I think that women are becomming more apt to do something about violence," Bokos said.

Both judges have noticed an "alarming increase" in the number of domestic violence cases being reported. To date 220 cases have been reported this year compared to a total of 168 cases in 1993, according to court officials.

From June 13, two days after Nichole Simpson's murder, to July 12, 52 cases were reported locally. This amount, according to Bokos, is "three times the number of cases reported during the same period last year."

In addition, according to Westland 18th District Court Administrator David Wiacek, from mid-July to Aug. 10, an additional 52 cases have been reported.

With the courts "no drop" policy on domestic violence cases, offenders are more likely to do jail time and/or become involved in rehabilitation programs.

"In past times, officers would get frustrated because the victim was just looking for a referee and once it (violence) stopped, the officer would be asked to go away," McKnight said.

"It's a real good program. We can't make people change, but it gives people the tools to make appropriate changes," McKnight said.

Domestic violence cases, or spousal abuse cases, focus on husband/wife, parent/child or boyfriend/girlfriend assaults. Usually the number of assault and battery cases, dealing with violence outside the family unit, is higher than domestic cases, but not this year, Bokos said.

"I think the violence is up. There were five or six pregnant women hit in the stomach area during the last month," McKnight said. "We had one guy smashing his wife's head on the cement, making reference to O.J. and saying she would get what she deserved like his (Simpson's) wife."

McKnight added that there are also a number of female and child offenders abusive to their family members.

"Eighty percent of the cases are alcohol-related. That's true for our whole docket," McKnight said.

Domestic violence cases handled through the district court are "put on a fast track" with defendant's returning to court within two weeks after being arraigned on the charges. Offenders are given up to 90 days jail time/and or appropriate treatment programs.

"They (circuit judges) don't see the people right away. We see them come out of lockup ... a 6-foot 3-inch tall man and the lady with black eyes. You get a different feel of what's going on," McKnight said.

However, she added, "Jail is an unusual rememedy. The defendant may have a lifetime investment in the marriage. There are some things worth trying to salvage."

Some cases warrant more serious action.

"Sometimes all you can do is give someone a head start on a new life if the spouse goes to jail," the judge said.

This "head start," Bokos said, could be anything from divorce to moving out-of-state to protect themselves.

Unlike some other law enforcement officials, Canton Township authorities have not attributed an increase in domestic violence complaints to the publicity surrounding the O.J. Simpson case.

Police department statistics from Jan. '93 to July '93 cited 39 reported incidents. The number of incidents from Jan. '94 to July '94 have almost doubled statistics show.

Community Relations Officer Tammie Colling confirmed the increase in numbers, but attributes it to other factors.

"I think more people are telling and more incidents are happening that are not husband and wife," she said.

When victimized people previously filed a report at the police station, it was typically called a "spousal abuse," but with the recent passage of new legislature, it is now referred to as "domestic violence."

The difference lies in the relationship of the parties involved and the type of recourse that could be sought. Under the old statute, people had to reside in the same house to be protected by the act. When no weapon was used, as was usually the case, officers had to treat it as a misdemeanor offense, meaning that officers could only arrest if there were evident signs of abuse. A report was only filed if there was an arrest.

According to the new act, police can make an arrest "as long as a threat or potential for threat is there," she said, "and people do not have to live in the same place. If the couple has a common child, it is "domestic violence."

Many of the reports filed involve alcohol, Colling verified, "but that just brings it to a head."

Free immunization shots offered to area students by Wayne County

With the baseball season on the verge of being over, can school be far behind?

Obviously not.

But, even if the National and American League ball players don't strike, parents who plan to send their children to school this fall should get their children's immunization shots out of the way.

There is a way to do this free of charge or at low cost, according to school and county officials.

Wayne County officials this week announced that they are offering free or low-cost immunization to local and area students in Belleville, Sumpter, Van Buren Township, Romulus, Inkster, Wayne and Westland areas.

Also, Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara has declared the month of August as Immunization Month.

In conjunction with McNamara's announcement, the Wayne County Health Department, along with several other local provider groups and community agencies, are planning to conduct a number of free and low- cost immunization activities this month.

> We have a great immunization success story in this country. Right now, we are immunizing 100 percent at a tender age. But that 100 percent is not children - it's farm animals like cows, chickens, and turkeys. On the other hand, less than 50 percent of our children under age 2 are properly immunized.
> - Patricia Soares

"We have a great immunization success story in this country," said Patricia Soares, Wayne County Health Director. "Right now, we are immunizing 100 percent at a tender age. But that 100 percent is not children - it's farm animals like cows, chickens, and turkeys.

"On the other hand, less than 50 percent of our children under age 2 are properly immunized."

Soares stressed that the tide must be reversed and that "we are very fortunate to have some excellent local health care providers and community agencies in our area working on this effort."

Area hospitals and agencies are offering free immunization shots at several locations in the area. The locations include:

- Oakwood Belleville Family Medical Center, 19130 Sumpter Road, Belleville, from 1 to 6 p.m. on Aug. 17 and Aug. 24. No appointment is necessary, and it is free. Telephone 699-2094;
- Romulus Teen Health Center, Romulus High School, 1650 S. Wayne Road. The hours will vary and parents are urged to make appointments. There is a $2 charge. For further information, telephone 941-1400.
- Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. The locations for the shots will be announced at a later date - noon to 8 p.m. Aug. 25; noon to 8 p.m. Aug. 31 and 8 a.m. until 1 p.m. Sept. 7. Please phone 467-5555. No appointment is necessary.
- In Inkster, the D.A.Z. Health Fair, Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, from 10 to 4 p.m. on Aug. 20. No fees.

Officials say that a child who participates in the program must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. They also urge you to bring the child's previous immunization card or record with them.

More information about the special immunization activities during the month or the location of the closest free or low-cost clinic, telephone 961-BABY in Wayne County or 1-800-26-BIRTH outside of Wayne County.

New student code of conduct prompts debate

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

This year parents of Wayne-Westland elementary school students will notice a change in the student code of conduct which district administrators are calling proactive in nature.

However, at least one school board member is unsure of the reaction of district parents to the changes.

Similar to the 1994-95 secondary handbook, which addresses the issue of student suspensions, the elementary code of conduct will now permit suspensions of up to 30 days without allowing the parent to appeal this decision to the board of education members.

"I think six weeks is a long time. That's roughly 17 percent of a school year that a parent or student cannot come before this board," Board Vice President Richard LeBlanc said.

From 11 to 30 days of suspension, LeBlanc said, the student's only recourse is an appeal to the hearing officer. "If the hearing officer deems the infraction is important enough for a 10 to 30 day suspension, but not an expulsion, it's not appealable to the board," LeBlanc said.

"I support our administration and board ... but I'm not sure how fair it is," LeBlanc said, adding that this language was in the secondary code of conduct last year.

"We only had one case like that last year, but what if a half dozen people come to the board. I do not look forward to dealing with this in the future," LeBlanc said.

Trustee Francis Winter agreed and asked that administrators send the code of conduct to the state board of education for approval.

"We reviewed the secondary code of conduct and included some of the same language. We wanted to communicate the same message to parents," said Dr. Carol Johnson, district executive director of elementary education.

According to Johnson, elementary students usually are not suspended more than five days for a single offense, however she added, "What if we had that one?"

"Our issues are usually pretty minor compared to what you see at the secondary level. We've never had it happen, but just like us having the 50-degree below wind chill factor, we were not prepared. We took a reactionary mode, not the proactive mode."

If elementary students are recommended for a suspension more than 10 days, or expulsion, they are provided with a student hearing before a district hearing officer. If the officer recommends expulsion or suspension for more than 30 days, students have the right to an appeal before the board of education members.

"People have the propensity for going to the highest source. We want you to know that you may start right here. These are the individuals that will have the say so," Johnson said. "The board will not necessarily hear these cases. They're not serious enough."

If the younger students are suspended for 10 days or less, the building administrator shall investigate the alleged violation and present that information to the student. If the student denies the charges against him/her, that student will be given the opportunity to explain his/her version of the facts before a decision is made. Any disciplinary suspension more than five days, but less than 11 school days, must be approved by Dr. Johnson. Suspensions of 10 days or less are final and cannot be appealed to the board of education members.

According to the student handbook, if an elementary student presents "a danger to the student her/himself, or to other students, school personnel or the educational process, then the student shall be suspended ..."

Students suspended more than 10 days return to school following the decision of the hearing officer, while students suspended less than 10 days, are provided with their due process rights the next school day.

The code also addresses dealing with student discipline based on their level of maturity.

"Administrators have the flexibility to use the amount of discipline they feel necessary," Johnson said. "When a kindergardener steals versus a sixth-grader stealing, it's totally different and should be handled differently ... as opposed to following the code of conduct and suspending them for five days."

Johnson said younger children sometimes don't have the cognitive ability to recognize what they are doing is wrong. Therefore, Johnson said, administrators are now given the latitude to discipline the children accordingly. These measures can include voluntary agreements between the student or parents with administrators.

Johnson said the type of discipline will also be based on the frequency of incorrect behavior.

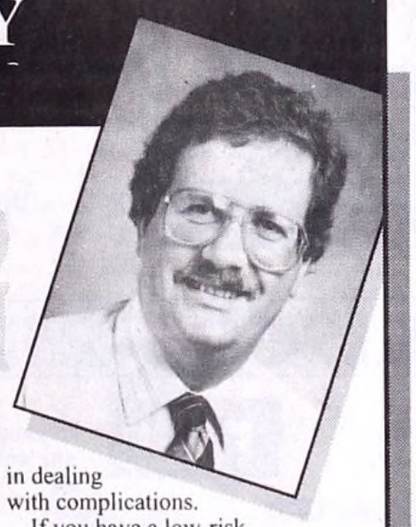
CHILDBIRTH: WOMEN HAVE MANY CHOICES

by David Schindler, M.D.



Enjoying

Today, women have many choices when it comes to childbirth, most of which enable you to play a more active role in the birth of your baby.

These choices include where to have your baby, who will deliver your baby, and how you can participate in the birth of your child.

Where will you have your baby?

You can choose to have your baby in a hospital labor and delivery room, a birthing center, or in your home.

Having a baby at home is the most risky of the birthing options — it is too difficult to respond to emergency situations effectively. Also, most physicians will not deliver babies in homes.

Birthing centers are facilities where the major emphasis is on natural, non-interventional births. Staff members are trained in helping you have as comfortable a birth experience as possible.

Labor and delivery rooms vary between hospitals — some have rooms where you labor, deliver, and recover in the same room; others have separate rooms; and others are somewhere in-between.

Who will deliver your baby?

For high-risk pregnancies, an obstetrician is your best choice. Obstetricians devote most of their time to delivering babies, and they have the most training and exposure in dealing with complications.

If you have a low-risk pregnancy, your family physician can deliver your baby — and continue to provide total health care for you, the baby, and the whole family.

Midwives are registered nurses who are trained in delivering babies and providing health care to women. They usually are affiliated with physicians who will back them up during emergencies.

How can you participate?

Whether you choose an obstetrician, family physician, or midwife, you should find out their routine, and what role you'll play in the childbirth. Areas to discuss include routine episiotomies (cutting the tissue between the vagina and anus) when you'll get to hold the baby after delivery, and your participation in the delivery.

While making your choices, keep in mind that the most important goal of all is to keep yourself healthy, and go home with a healthy baby!

Florist hosts herb seminar

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

It wasn't just an exhibit of parsley, sage rosemary and thyme, the herb seminar last weekend at Keller and Stein also featured wreaths and decorations made from common herbs.

"Herbs are not only used for medicinal purposes," said Bob Simmons, manager of Keller and Stein. "Just ask the people who attended the free herb seminar last weekend."

Each hour-long class, taught by Carolyn Massab of Massab Acres, showed individuals how to harvest and use their fresh herbs to create wreaths for any occasion.

"She is very knowledgeable and easy to listen to," said Simmons. "She used chili peppers to decorate the wreaths as well as lavenders."

Each session was attended by approximately 30 people.

The seminar was the third in a continuing series according to Simmons. This spring, Keller and Stein will continue the series with a presentation by a noted author on the growing and culinary use of herbs.

"There will be a minimal charge for that event, however, in order to get the author," he said.

Future seminars will include growing patio flowers, flower arranging and "other things people are showing an interest in," said Simmons. "We're exploring the possibility of a hands-on workshop, but we have to look into the costs of the materials and other things first."

Employees of Keller and Stein have heard nothing but good comments regarding their seminars. In fact, the sessions have been so successful in some cases that people had to be turned away due to lack of space. Everyone is encouraged to reserve their spot by calling 397- 0800.

Simmons and his employees use the sessions as a way to introduce more people with the services of Keller and Stein.

"We have been serving some people for 15 years over the phone, who thought we were strictly a flower shop," said the man. "These seminars bring new and repeat customers in to see what a gorgeous store we have."

In addition to selling sweet-smelling flowers, Keller and Stein also sells house and outside plants, silk flowers and gifts from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Sunday.

The next series event will be the annual fall orchid sale and show which will take place the first weekend in October. Two months later, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus will kick off the Christmas sale by sitting with youngsters for photos free of charge.

The ultimate goal for employees of Keller and Stein is to offer some type of seminar every month. Simmons believes it can be done.

"Right now, we are trying to work out a schedule to do it in 1995," he said.

Area man accused of murder faces jury trial

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

> He met the victim and made arrangements for him (Taylor) to come over after he got out of work to look at his coins. He brought the victim down in the basement and gave him something to eat.
> - Sgt. Thomas Miller

For the parents of 19-year-old Steven Taylor, the victim of a shooting incident which claimed his life earlier this year in Wayne, the Jan. 23, 1995 jury trial for a Wayne man couldn't come soon enough.

Arlie Brandenburg is charged with fatally wounding Taylor Jan. 26 at his home on First Street at approximately 7:20 p.m.

During the March 11 examination in the 29th district Court, Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney Angelo Plakas informed the court of a taped recording between the defendant and a Wayne police dispatcher.

Brandenburg had called the Wayne Police Department the evening of Jan. 26 to inform police there was a dead body in his basement.

The conversation included the following from Brandenburg: "I don't know what happened here. It appears someone is dead in my home in the basement. I have no idea what happened. I had a guy come over here to sort out some coins. I let this guy in. When I woke up he disappeared. He's dead. This is Arlie Brandenburg."

Wayne Police Sgt. Thomas Miller testified during the examination that he was one of the first officers to arrive at the scene. He said Brandenburg informed him that he went to Goodman's Feed and Seed store in Wayne earlier that day to talk with the victim who was an employee of Goodman's.

"He met the victim and made arrangements for him (Taylor) to come over after he got out of work to look at his coins," Miller said. "He brought the victim down in the basement and gave him something to eat. He brought out the coins while the victim was eating and looked through them."

If Brandenburg is found guilty of second-degree murder, he could receive up to life in prison.

Man charged with assaulting motorist stopped at traffic light

A 20-year-old Westland man, charged with felonious assault after he allegedly held a knife to a motorist's throat July 3, was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court.

Ronrico Delon Moton, who was released on a $5,000 personal conditional bond with the stipulation that he does not drink any alcohol, waived his right to a preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court Thursday.

Moton is accused of stopping a driver on Venoy Road near the Grand Traverse intersection in Westland, reaching into the victim's car and holding a 5-inch single-edged boning knife to the complainant's throat and threatening him, Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh said.

"The driver slowed down because he saw the man on the side of the road. He (Moton) stepped out in front of him ... blocking northbound Venoy traffic," Haigh said. "He (Moton) had just left his home (following) a family problem and was upset," Haigh said, adding that the man was intoxicated at the time.

Thinking quickly, the driver leaned down and drove off unharmed, according to Haigh.

If convicted of the charge, Moton faces up to four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine.

Area man pleads guilty to stabbing man after dispute

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 39-year-old Westland man, accused of stabbing another man three times in a dispute about a $5 wager, pleaded guilty to felonious assault in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Clayborn Douglas Dean was originally charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, a crime punishable by up to 10 years in prison. The reduced charge is punishable by up to four years in prison.

Dean's bond was set at $50,000 cash since threatening the victim following an 18th District Court preliminary examination in early March. In court Dean pointed to the victim and said, "I'll get you," as he was being escorted to lockup, according to court officer David Gillies.

The stabbing occurred on Feb. 17 when the 31-year-old victim was invited into Dean's home, located on the 32600 block of Menominee Street in Westland. According to the victim, Kenneth Holt of Wayne, the two met through a mutual friend and decided to wager $5 that Holt would not drive Dean's car to a nearby gas station without a license plate affixed to the vehicle.

Holt took the bet, drove the car to the gas station and paid $5 for gasoline, he testified. When they returned to Dean's home, the victim confronted Dean about the $5 he owed for the wager. According to testimony, Dean did not pay the $5 and when Holt came toward him, the two began to wrestle in the living room.

Sometime during the wrestling match, Dean stabbed the victim with a 4- inch blade, once in the back and in both of his sides, Holt testified.

"I was stabbed in my love handles," which now I called my lifesavers," the victim testified as he pointed to his sides.

After the impact, Holt testified, he broke the knife in Dean's hand suffering another cut to his hand.

Do your part to help clear the air.

630,000 households already are.

Ozone high in the stratosphere protects us from dangerous sunlight. But, ozone near the ground, where we breath, is a pollutant which causes health problems for the young, the elderly and those with pre-existing respiratory ailments. Ozone is formed when the hot sun "bakes" unburned hydrocarbons from tailpipe emissions, fuel evaporation and smokestacks.

We are doing better.

For more than 15 years, businesses and individuals have spent millions of dollars to reduce the hydrocarbon emissions which produce ozone. As a result, Southeast Michigan has met federal ozone standards for three years. But, if the region violates those standards this summer, automobile emissions testing will become more expensive and businesses will be required to spend an additional $55 million annually on emission controls – a cost that would be passed along to consumers.

The Clean Air Coalition of Southeast Michigan is a business, industry and government partnership to improve and maintain the region's air quality. The Coalition identifies as Ozone Action! days those hot summer days when higher ozone levels are likely. On those days, business and the public are asked to take no-cost and low-cost voluntary actions to reduce emissions.

It's working!

An estimated 630,000 households are participating in Ozone Action! days. Ozone levels have remained within federal standards on seven action days this summer. On two of those days the ozone levels remained barely below the standard. The voluntary efforts of more than a million people in those households undoubtedly helped prevent exceeding the standard.

Clip the List: Join the Action.

Join the Ozone Action! now. Clip the Ozone Action! Tips section and put it on your refrigerator or bulletin board. Take one or more of those no-cost and low-cost actions each time an Ozone Action! day happens. (In fact, many of those tips are a good idea all the time.)

OZONE ACTION!
LET'S CLEAR THE AIR.

Ozone Action! Tips

You can make a difference in reducing ozone by taking no-cost and low-cost voluntary steps on Ozone Action! days. Many business have taken these actions already.

REFUELING CARS, BOATS, LAWN EQUIPMENT, MOTORCYCLES:

1. Don't refuel on Ozone Action! days; if refueling is necessary, wait until cooler evening hours, after 6 p.m.
2. Use low vapor pressure fuel (available this summer at Marathon and Speedway stations).
3. Keep vehicles/boats/lawn equipment well maintained.
4. Make certain your gas cap is tightly sealed.
5. Turn off engines, rather than idling them.
6. Avoid "topping off" gas tanks.

HOUSEHOLD TIPS:

1. Encourage walking or bicycling. Minimize recreational vehicle use.
2. Don't mow lawns on Ozone Action! days, or wait until after 6 p.m.
3. Avoid use of charcoal lighter fluid and other solvent-based paints and cleaners.

TRAVEL TIPS:

1. If possible, work at home.
2. Use public transportation. For route information, call SMART at (313) 962-5515.
3. Or, carpool - Special Ozone Action! Ride-sharing information is available by calling (313) 963-RIDE for short-term arrangements.
4. Combine business, errand or recreational trips.
5. Drive smoothly - avoid "jack rabbit" starts/stops.

Church plans musical, film events

The morning program will feature the songs and ministry of vocalist Bev Bush of Johnstown, Ohio. Pastor Craig Watson said Bush will provide her spiritual vocal-piano mixture at the service beginning at 10:30 a.m.

That evening at 6, Watson will offer a 90-minute film Come the Morning "that uses the contemporary issue of homelessness as a backdrop for the timeless message of man's need to reconcile himself to God," Watson said.

The story line follows a father deserting his family without explanation, the family moving to Los Angeles and then undergoing a string of maladies that leads them to life on the streets. The movie shows how different members of the family address the homelessness issue and their faith in God.

The film produced by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, features a number of movie and television stars, who youths will relate to including: John Schneider, formerly of the Dukes of Hazzard, J.D. Hall of In the Heat of the Night and Fresh Prince of Bel Air,, Andi Chapman of Dad and thirtysomething, and D.David Morin of Cheers, L.A. Law and Empty Nest.

The church is located at the corner of Marquette and Wayne Road in Westland.

Man charged in assault

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

A Detroit man has been charged with assault with intent to murder and felonious assault in the alleged stabbing of one Wayne man and hitting of another resident with a blunt object.

Reginald Shealey was arraigned Aug. 10 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. A $100,000 cash bond was set.

Wayne police arrested the Detroit man who was allegedly involved in the fight, according to Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson.

"The altercation occurred at a party July 24 at a resident's home on Annapolis," Johnson said. "Several people showed up including the defendant.

"A fight began at which time one victim was cut pretty severely and another victim was struck with a wooden object."

Wayne resident Howard Huff was stabbed once and was treated at Annapolis Hospital and released. Johnson said the second victim, Lawrence Ossenmacher, who is also a Wayne resident, did not seek medical assistance for his injury.

Wayne police had to wait until last Wednesday to arraign Shealey on the assault charges because he was in custody in Detroit on a weapons charge," Johnson said.

The defendant is expected to appear for an examination before Archbold Aug. 17. If he is found guilty of assault with intent to murder and felonious assault, he could receive up to life in prison.

The couple currently reside in Lake Worth, Fla. They were married on Aug. 19, 1936 in Toledo, Ohio.

They have two children, Ronald of Delray Beach, Fla. and Lois of Canton, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was honored for the arrest and for his quick action in calling the railroad to divert any trains from passing on the local line and thus potentially saving many lives.

Since moving to Florida he has been highlighted in the media for his work at "Fort Knox," a recycling center he helped set up in a mobile home park. Money obtained from selling the old newspapers and aluminum cans is used to purchase wheelchairs, walkers, etc.

His wife before retiring was a school teacher in Kentucky, where she taught all eight grades and was a substitute in the Wayne-Westland School District. Her hobby is sewing and she has been active with the First United Methodist Church of Wayne and is a longtime student of the Bible.

72% of metro Detroiters live in the suburbs, where SPRING has twice the circulation of the Free Press—and nearly three times the circulation of The News.

And all of SPRING's circulation is audited.

All of which means, any way you care to slice it...

SPRING should be your first choice for reaching the right metro Detroit market.

NATIONAL CENTER FOR MISSING & EXPLOITED CHILDREN

2101 Wilson Blvd. • Suite 550 • Arlington, VA 22201
703/235-3900 TDD: 1-800-826-7653

Each year, hundreds of children and young people are abducted and exploited. Their parents and family wait anxiously day after day for word of their child who was so viciously taken from their home. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children is in the business of publicizing and ultimately solving these mysterious disappearances. The Center, based in Virginia, is responsible for most of the missing children advertisements which you see on milk cartons, billboards and such. The photographs on this page were taken from the files of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children. They are all actively being sought by their parents, with very few leads. These children may be living in your neighborhood, attending your church, or even sitting next to your child in school. They are out there somewhere. Anyone with information concerning the whereabouts of any of these children is asked to call the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children at 1-800-843-5678. If your child is missing, call your local police department right away. If your child is at home, hug them and tell them about the danger of the world and teach them to be safe.

Thanks to these local businesses for sponsoring these missing children.

What a ride

Rodeo leaves drivers breathless

Gut feeling in the automotive business, like dependable shoes or potential romance, means just about everything.

A strong visceral sense of good and not so good is the most reliable tool for testing a vehicle (or a girlfriend/boyfriend) that's going to gobble a sizable portion of your paycheck if the commitment to a long- term relationship is made.

And so it is with the Isuzu Rodeo.

A top selling sport-utility vehicle (SUV) assembled by Indiana auto workers, Rodeo physically feels right from the moment you saddle up to that time, hopefully hours later, when you shut off the gritty 175- horsepower V-6 and slap the thick leather steering wheel like the back of an old friend.

Grooming on 2WD or 4WD Rodeos for the last several years, in many opinions, is some of the finest on the market. The vehicle, particularly with treaded 16-inch AT overshoes, sits like a pedigree American Pit Bull Terrier -- growling, mean and wide.

More importantly Rodeo rides well. In all conditions.

Packing the optional 3.2L V-6, Rodeo has no problem splashing, climbing and running roughshod over the worst roads and back alleys a duck hunter or mom's taxi is likely to find. Even, dare we suggest, with a four-speed automatic transmission riding more than 10 inches off the deck (frame to ground 13 inches).

Cabin appointments are Spartan and practical. Lights, wiper and emergency buttons are within finger punch range, although adjusting the radio is kind of a pain down behind the shifter. Roomy seating up front is limited to deuce with a workable console. You can get three in back, plus storage (seat up and exterior spare) is more than adequate for shopping and two-tracking needs. The optional roof rack helps long haulers, too.

Rodeo easily tops the charts in the $15,000 to $23,000 range. And it doesn't ask for roses or promises or an abstract power tie. Whadda match.

"We have been located at the 26735 W. 8 Mile Road location for the past seven years. The shop is located between Beech Daly and Inkster roads. Prior to that I have had carburetor repair shops in Pontiac and Detroit," Evans said.

rebuilt."

Erwin said he has been rebuilding carburetors since he was 14 years old.

"Ever since I have been in business," he said "my shops have been famous for their life-time guarantees. If for any reason our rebuilt carburetors fail, we will redo them at no charge. It has become known locally as 'Howard's guarantee.' We don't know of anyone else making such an offer."

"U.S.A. Carburetors does not diagnose carburetor problems, but when the devices are hand delivered to our shops, we rebuild them often in less than two to three hours," Erwin said.

Erwin said his partner, Jim, takes the carburetors off the vehicles and puts them back on.

"We specialize in rebuild ing foreign and domestic carburetors and even work on Mitsubishi 2.6 Chryslers," he said.

Erwin said U.S.A. Carburetors will cut their low prices even more for Associated Newspaper VIP Card owners.

"We will take another $20 off the price of the life-time guaranteed rebuilt carburetors and give a $5 discount on rebuilt alternators and starters that carry one-year warranties," Erwin said.

The shop is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays. For further information call 1-313-592-1280.
